The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

'The Great Classroom Debacle'

The other day a man with three motherless sons told of one of them, in elementary school, being suspended for three days because of a minor infraction.

The youngster spent those days traveling with his father at work and enjoyed it thoroughly.

In fact the suspension was not a penalty at all. It was a reward. Now the youngster attempts to win suspension more often to be relieved of school routine.

Just that small particle of school operation gives a keyhole view of one of today's schools' problems — many of which are school created.

It was therefore refreshing to read a well-researched article — a full page, in fact — which encouraged a closer look at our school system.

The writer is Gerald L. Warren, editor of the San Diego Union, whose Sunday treatise is aimed at all grade schools — not just those in San Diego County.

And he said some commendatory things, too.

The material in his Sunday story was from speeches he had made earlier to the S.D. Unified School Administrators and to the Retired Administrators Assn. of S.D. City Schools. They didn't draw and quarter Warren, so there was, at the least, an understanding of what he was saying about school problems.

Here are some of Warren's opinions regarding the sorry plight of Jimmy, who can't read in spite of his good intellect

Warren refers to a piece in the Wall Street Journal regarding the Hudson Institute team which is headed by Frank E Armbruster. Armbruster had done a study which he described as the first attempt to understand "The Great Classroom Debacle . . ."

In it, Armbruster disputes educators who attribute poor achievement to environmental factors such as disadvantaged family background and adverse social conditions — lack of jobs, poor housing, racism, etc.

And Warren reported, "He finds that test results have declined in districts where there has been little or no social change. On the other side, he points to West Virginia where scores have held up among its poverty-stricken blacks and whites.

". . . The Hudson study lays blame for the scholastic failure directly on the educators. It criticizes lazy teachers, for example, who no longer require homework because it requires too much work to correct. It criticizes 'rap sessions' that are much easier for teachers than prepared lesson plans. It criticizes administrators for failing to support teachers who demand high standards or ordinary discipline.

"It also emphasizes that classroom time taken away by lack of discipline is an irreparable robbery of learning."

Taking a look at those who operate our schools, Warren reported:

"For too long, education has been divorced from other elements of society. School today is not just a place where kids go for most of the day to learn — it is an arena of social ills created by other sections of society.

"And yet, it is supposed to function as a place where kids go learn.

"Sometimes it appears that students in the school room fall between two schools: parents and educators.

"A question being asked increasingly by the public is: Who is really responsible for the school mess? Who really cares for the student's welfare? Who is lobbying for student interests these days?

"Go to any educational conference, be it American Assn. of School Administrators, the National School Board Assn., The National Education Assn., or any organization representing school officials, and listen to just how concerned they are at what is happening in classrooms.

"During a 4-5 day conference, someone will invariably stand up on the first day and say, 'We must remember that our first concern is for the student . . .'

"And that is the last time student will be mentioned during the conference. Thereafter, the debate will be on how to negotiate at the bargaining table, pension funds, dental programs, (for the staff, that is)."

Then Warren continues:

"For decades, parents have been told to stay out of the schools. But parents, who once put a lot of faith in the schools, now feel betrayed. They don't understand their own children, they can't relate to teenage values — and they blame the schools.

"Educators now tell parents to be more active in school, get involved. But what they are really saying is, 'You should get involved more, but not to the point of interferring . . .'

"On the other hand, teachers and administrators are fighting a battle in schools that never existed in the schools attended by today's parents and grandparents.

"The feeling of betrayal that is creeping over parents and taxpayers is leading to an alienation between the public and the schools. This is being reflected in rising questions, criticism and a failure to support additional school bond issues."

What got Warren off on this study was the fact that the National Student Achievement Test (SAT) verbal and mathematics scores from 1965 to 1975 dropped 38 points and 25 points respectively. "Between 1971 and 1975 California score declined even faster than the national average," according to Rex Jackson of the Education Testing Service for the College Entrance Examination Board.

"Our students, once above the national score average, are now below," reported Warren.

"We might hope that California educators would be showing the nation a way out of this illiterate wilderness. But such is not the case.

"Of the 2,718 new students admitted to the University of California at Berkeley this last year, a record number — 48 per cent — was found to need remedial instruction in basic English composition. At other U of C campuses the percentages ranged from 40 to 65.

"These are not deprived or disadvantaged youngsters. They are our brightest and best students. Nearly all of the new U of C students are required to take so-called 'bonehead English' came from the top 12 per cent of their high school classes.

There is much more meat in the Warren piece than has been reprinted here.

The article should be required reading for anyone involved in education — regardless of how remotely. And that affects nearly everyone.

The reader may get the feeling that if only one of the several criticisms reported in the article were to be made a part of any negotiating package school systems would turn around and solid educational principles would replace educational deterioration.

Neighborhood Watches -- A Design to Cut Crime

A program for reducing residential crime is just getting underway in the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove-Casa de Oro areas.

It's the Sheriff's Neighborhood Watch program.

The program is simple. A group of neighbors gather under the guidance of a sheriff's detective. He explains the program and the group decides if it wants to participate.

Chances are that it does. If members were not fearful of burglaries, prowl car theft, vandalism and rape, they would not have inquired in the first place.

But those who think the operation is similar to a vigilante committee or a big brother-type affair are going to be disappointed.

According to Sgt. R. G. Jacobs, officer in charge of detectives at the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office, it is an operation to reduce neighborhood crime through knowing your neighbors; knowing what to watch for knowing who to call under what circumstances.

As Sgt. Jacobs explains, "It is somewhat of a sociological situation in the operation. There are neighbors living on the same street who have never met and who may feel that they have no responsibility for each other. A common problem now causes them to realize that they do."

In the program 10-25 people gather at a home, school, or church to meet with a sheriff's detective — one who will have the primary responsibility of that neighborhood. He discusses the scope of the Watch and describes the effectiveness of other Neighborhood Watches in the unincorporated part of the county.

Then comes a comprehensive discussion of what are "suspicious actions". Watch members are urged not to hesitate to report such observations.

"We want to convince residents that sheriff's deputies are assigned to serve them and that the Watch is an additional useful service of the Department," Jacobs said.

After the initial meeting, others may follow — once a month or so. "Once we get neighbors watching out for each other, we distribute window stickers that warn would-be lawbreakers that the residence is on Watch. After he's heard of Watch he knows this job isn't going to be a push-over, and that if he doesn't move on, there's a good chance he will be caught.

"The Watch member, now acquainted with the detective in his vicinity, no longer feels awkward in reporting something suspicious — such as an auto, not normally in the neighborhood, cruising slowly up and down the street or a stranger trying doors at a neighbor's house.

"We'd rather have a tip that proves to be a false alarm than not to be advised at all," Sgt. Jacobs said.

There is no cost and no obligation in setting up a Neighborhood Watch. Sgt. Jacobs is at 236-2902 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. any week day. He'll tell you how.

In areas where the Watch has been instituted, crime has dropped dramatically, records show.

One Watch was started last week on Carmichael dr. on Mt. Helix. Another is scheduled for Spring Valley December 1.

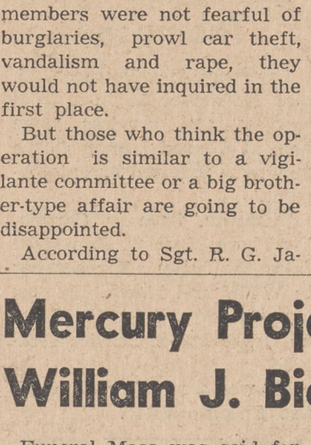
Sgt. Jacobs said there is no limit to the number of such Watches that may be set up.

Mercury Project Pioneer, William J. Biggs, Dies

Funeral Mass was said for William Joseph Biggs, Sr., 55, Friday at Our Lady of Grace Roman Catholic church. He died Sunday at U.S. Naval Hospital

He was a native of Seattle and had lived locally for 33 years. He served with the U.S. Navy 19 years until he was retired with a medical discharge. For the past 6 years he was shop foreman for Rollmaster Corp.

He was active in the Spring Valley Lions club. During the



William Biggs

10 years as a member he served as Tail-twister, director, bulletin editor and president (1972). Following his presidency he was Deputy District Governor of Dist. 4L6 in 1973 and District Governor in 1974.

In the club he served also as Monte Vista Carnival chairman; Student Speaker Chairman for club and district; secretary; treasurer; public relations chairman; District Youth Exchange chairman; District Convention (Newport Beach) 1975 and was District Chairman for the upcoming District Convention (San Jose) in February. He was also district auditor and budgeter.

He was named Lion of the Year four years (1967-'71).

He was a Hospital Corpsman in the Navy Hospital Corps serving during WWII and the Korean Conflict.

Biggs was the last survivor of the 11-man experimental team of the pioneer Mercury space medical program started in the early '50s. Biggs, then 29, a registered male nurse was sent to Pensacola and soon was working on the space medical program with internationally famous scientists, one of whom was Eric Von Braun.

Much of Biggs' work involved low pressure experiments and centrifuge limitations in which the human body was tested at 1,350 M.P.H.

Gravity, which forced blood impurities to the extremities of arms and legs, created health problems in Biggs and others who rode the centrifuge.

Scientists discovered that impurities being heavy, stayed at the bottom and caused gangrene and Biggs lost his right leg to amputation in May, 1961. Other operations followed and at one point he was given three months to live. When the first of the 7 astronauts were selected, Biggs worked with Alan Shepard who made the first "flea hop" outside the earth's atmosphere

He is survived by two daughters; four sons; two brothers; two sisters, and six grandchildren.

Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Loot is Electronic

Electronic devices valued at $780 was the loot of a burglar who entered the premises occupied by Robert C. Ditts at 8753 Broadway on November 14.

The thief got in through a louvered window and got out with an electric typewriter and calculator plus a manual checkwriter.

TVs, Boat, Jewelry Taken In Separate SV Burglaries

Spring Valley was the scene of several burglaries last week. On November 15, Rex Allan McCombs reported to the sheriff's department that his boat, trailer, motor and boat contents were taken from 8744 Tyler st. The 19' boat had a value of $1,500. The engine and trailer raised the total loss to $4,594.

At 2023 Helix st., someone entered the residence of Isabelle Mary Anderson through a louvered window and made off with 25 rings from several jewelry boxes. Some of the rings were very old and valuable but she could get no estimate of the total.

The burglary occurred on November 14 while she was away visiting with her daughter.

A 19" GE color teevee worth $400 was removed from the home of Dennis H. Rollie at 1142 Helix st. while he was away on November 16.

Sheriff's deputies could discern no point of entry.

Down at 829 Grand ave. on the same day, a burglar got into the home of Patricia Beggs through a locked front door and left with her XL100 Zenith portable color teevee she valued at $586. She was away when the loss occurred.

Annexation to be Legal in March

Tom Lean, assistant to the city manager special projects of the City of La Mesa said the annexation of Vista La Mesa would be accomplished by March, if all government bodies approve it.

Residents of the area approved it in a November 2 election. The vote is being canvassed and both the La Mesa City Council and the County Board of Supervisors must approve it.

Lean said then it would be necessary for the Secretary of State to put the stamp of approval on it by the first of the year in order to meet the March tax rolls deadline.

It had been erroneously reported that the annexed area would go on the tax rolls January 1.

School Board Hedges

Parents Want News On Bargaining Talks

By John Kowalczyk

School Board members in Lemon Grove discovered Tuesday night that Portia Hardcastle, president of the Golden Avenue School PTA, was not the only citizen worried about how teacher-District collective bargaining negotiations were going in Lemon Grove.

On Tuesday night several parents jammed into the board meeting room at the Education Center, Lincoln at Kempf — which suddenly has become far too small to accommodate an audience — to hear the board's answers to Mrs. Hardcasle's questions.

Some visitors objected when Board President H. Warren Buckner — acting on legal advise — declined to read a prepared written response to Mrs. Hardcastle. Reading certain portions of the response, Buckner said, might be interpreted as an unfair labor practice.

The matter was settled when Lemon Grove Teachers Association bargaining team chairman Dick Stowers read the response and declared that LGTA would have no objections to it being read publicly.

The response was then read to the audience by the board secretary.

Progress

Following an all day negotiating session, November 15, both negotiators were able to settle differences on class size limitations, employee evaluation procedures, leaves and trasfer policies. All but the final step in grievance procedure policy have been ironed out.

Yet to be settled are salaries, hours of employment, safety conditions for employees and specified health and welfare benefits, although the District has intimated that an agreement shortly before the beginning of the new fiscal year to pay the 28 per cent increased cost of health insurance has sufficiently sweetened that benefit.

Teachers' original proposal called for an 18 per cent additional cost to the district. A counter proposal submitted

Ground Broken for LM Shop Complex

Ground was broken Friday for a shopping center complex at the southeast corner of University ave. and La Mesa blvd. adjacent the Helix theatre.

More than 200 persons attended the ceremony which started a development which will eventually cover 27 acres.

According to the developers, Alexander Haagen and Co., Gemco will be the anchor tenant. Others include Central Federal Savings, Security Pacific National Bank, Sportland, La Mesa Travel Agency, and Swensen's Ice Cream Factory.

The opening of the first phase of 12 3/4 acres is planned for June.

Hayes' Spirits High; Friends Bank $23,000

Injured Mt. Miguel football player Kip Hayes is in good spirits, is eating well and communicating the best he can, reports Mt. Miguel Principal Dr. Robert Pyle.

He remains in the intensive care ward at El Cajon Valley Hospital paralyzed from the neck down and breathing with the aid of a respirator.

Pyle said that as of Tuesday more than $23,000 has been banked in Hayes' trust fund. Radio station KCBQ claims to have raised another $10,000 in contributions and pledges.

Granite Hills High, where Hayes injured his neck November 12 during a prep football game, is preparing to contribute $1500 its students collected.

Hours Added For Flu Shot Customers

Hours of some County Health Department immunidation clinics were extended this week to meet public demand for swine flu shots, according to an announcement from that department.

All afternoon clinics, regularly scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m., will be extended to at least 7 p.m. to accommodate those who work during the day, said Dr. John R. Philp, director of public health. There is no charge for the protection.

Included on the list of immunization clinics with extended hours are those at 5202 University ave., San Diego (Monday, 1-7 p.m.) and 113 E. Douglas ave., El Cajon (Friday, 1-7 p.m.)

The special swine flu information number, operable weekdays except holidays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., is 236-2227.

More than 120,000 San Diegans received flu shots during the 16-day mass clinic effort. Thousands more are expected to receive the vaccine at the regularly sheduled immunization clinics.

PacTelCo to Open 3 OCMS Routes

The telephone company will put a new gimmick in effect December 1.

It may save some local subscribers money.

Simply put, it establishes new Optional Calling Measured Service (OCMS) routes between Spring Valley and three other communities. These communities are La Jolla, Pacific Beach and Coronado. It will cost users in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley $2.75 a month for each route—under certain conditions or $8.25 for all three.

For $2.75 a resident can spend a total of 2 hours talking between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. over one OCMS route. After two hours, the subscriber pays 3 cents a minute. That would aid those who call La Jolla, Coronado or Pacific Beach regularly since now there is a long distance charge for every call made. Business firms are now on OCMS.

But there is a bonus—of a sort. Calls made between 8 p.m. until 8 a.m. wouldn't be charged against the allowance.

Reverse the procedure, and the gimmick works for the three above communities to Lemon Grove and Spring Valley. Business firms are now on OCMS ofter using a minimum number of calls.

Telephone life was simpler —and cheaper—a few years ago. M.G.

Lake Seated By 30th

Craig Lake should be able to take his newly acquired seat on the Lemon Grove School Board by November 30.

Carol Parks, a spokesman from the legal services office of the County Department of Education, said a delay in the certification of election results and a contested election in a Borrego school board race has delayed certification by the Registrar of Voters.

Certification of elected school board officials in the county is customarily handled in mass, Parks said.

The Registrar's legal deadline is November 30.

Wallet Falls from Hood

Gary Hall of 3991 N. Granada dr., Spring Valley, headed for a filling station about 9 p.m. November 16. But once there, he recalled that he had left his wallet on the hood of his car. In the five miles between the two points — home and station — the wallet, with several ID and credit cards, was lost. It also contained $81 in cash.

JUST MARRIED — The former Marian Carole Eulette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon F. Eulette of 716 San Juhn st., Spring Valley, became the bride of Michael L. Dunlap of Fallbrook on Saturday.
The couple were married in the afternoon at the newly constructed home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elsworth, also of Fallbrook.
The bride is a graduate of Monte Vista High and has attended Grossmont College.
Dunlap—a San Diego County Deputy Sheriff formerly stationed in Lemon Grove—holds an AS degree from Palomar Jr. College, a BS degree from San Diego State U. and a Master's Degree from Laverne College.
The newlyweds will reside in Fallbrook.

Day Care Meals

The Christian Day Care school at 2920 Main st., Lemon Grove, has announced a free and reduced price lunch program is available to children meeting the approved federal eligibility requirements.

The meals are provided without regard to race, color or national origin.

Green Hanging Opens Christmas Season in VLM

Vista La Mesa Christian Church members will celebrate their traditional "hanging of the green" in their sanctuary Sunday.

The festive activities begin at 6:30 p.m. with Christmas carols and the trimming of a Christmas tree.

Preceeding the hanging activities, members of the church will meet from 4 to 5:30 to prepare boughs, decorate a tree in the Fellowship Hall, string popcorn and bake cookies.

A snack supper is planned for 5:30 p.m.

The parish observes the ceremony christening the Christmas season every year on the first Sunday in Advent.

The church is located at 4210 Massachusetts ave.

Graham's SD Crusade On Teevee Network

Ch. 6 will join an international television network December 1-3 to telecast the recent San Diego Billy Graham Crusade which led more than 10,000 persons to make decisions for Christ.

The Rev. Dr. Graham's message to Southern California will be aired from 10 to 11 p.m. Wednesday through Friday. Appearances also will be made by Ethel Waters, Corrie Ten Boom and a massed choir comprised of county church members.

The local crusade committee reports church memberships have increased throughout the county and weekly prayer groups have been established as a result of the August crusade in San Diego Stadium.

Ch. 6 will continue pre-Christmas religious programming with "The Greatest Story Ever Told" on December 4 at 10 p.m.

NEW BRIDE — Diana Lynn "Cricket" Cody of 2042 Madera st., Lemon Grove was claimed as the bride of William Bruce Edwards in a 1 o'clock wedding ceremony at St. Charles Catholic Church in Imperial Beach Sunday.
A reception was held at the Imperial House restaurant following the ceremony.
The bride is the daughter of Jimmy and Ginger Cody. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Edwards of San Diego.
The new Mrs. Edwards attended Mt. Miguel High school, Grossmont College and the Susan Thomas Academy of Fashion. Her husband will be graduated from SDSU in June.
The couple will reside at 5950 Rancho Mission rd. in San Diego after they return from a North California honeymoon.

Film at Bancroft Baptist Depicts Historic Plight

"Corrie: Behind The Scenes With The Hiding Place" a new full-length color release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown at Bancroft Baptist Church, 2300 Bancroft dr., Spring Valley, on December 5, at 6:30 p.m.

"Hiding Place", a true story filmed in Holland and other European locations, is based on the experiences of Corrie ten Boom, who, with the father, sister and brother, provided refuge for countless Jewish families.

A secret room was constructed in their home as a hiding place for use during Gestapo raids. The ten Boom's activities were discovered, and they were sent to prison and concentration camps.

The film's distributor said that the film "offers a great lesson in the perserverance of a personal faith in a very dark and trying period of world history."

The film includes interesting sidelights on the experiences of the cast and crew during its filming.

The showing is open to the public free of charge.

'Messiah' Offered Again at SD State

The 21st annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented Sunday, December 12 in Peterson Gym on San Diego State U. campus at 3 and 8 p.m.

SDSU chorus of 200 voices will be conducted by David L. Loomis while the State Symphony Orchestra will be under the baton of Howard Hill.

Tickets are $2 and there will be no advance sale. The gym box office will open one hour early.

Handel's "Messiah" is the most performed oratorio of the literature of that period. The State presentation comprises student voices chosen by audition. Lead voices will be different at each of the two performances.

New Poetry Contest

A grand prize of $1,000 is being offered in a new poetry competition sponsored by the World of Poetry, a monthly newsletter for poets. In addition, there are 49 cash and merchandise awards.

Rules and official entry forms are available by writing to: World of Poetry, 810 Portola dr., Dept. 211, San Francisco, California 94127.

11% Salary, Benefit Package Asked by Grossmont Teachers

A current counter offer of the Grossmont Education Association, representing teachers in the Grossmont Union High School District, totals 11.02 per cent in salary and benefit increases, a GEA update reports.

The progress report in bargaining negotiations between GEA and the Grossmont Union High School District shows a 5.87 per cent salary increase offer from the District, while the GEA has countered with a recommended 8.35 per cent hike.

Both sides of the bargaining team seem to have agreed on a 2.67 per cent step-and-class increase but are at odds with other proposed benefits.

GEA Chairperson Dick Feeser said his organization thinks the District owes employees $97,363 which was rebated from an insurance policy.

The District thinks otherwise.

GEA wants a sweeter fringe benefit package — $100 sweeter — but the District's latest stance is that any offer of fringe benefits will have to come from the 5.87 per cent salary increase funds.

The district also sees no need for a 29th step in anniversary increment, another demand of the teachers.

While teachers want 10 per cent of their yearly salary to teach summer school, the District has offered an hourly wage of $12 instead.

GEA requests 7 per cent of salary for time spent on curriculum writing, but the District will only offer an hourly wage of $9 for such work.

A committee of ten teachers, one district administrator and two school site administrators was formed to study and recommend a district-wide policy on variables in class size in each subject area.

The recommendations are expected to be completed in time for the teachers' 1977-78 contract.

Most differences regarding leave time benefits have been settled.

Young Writers Invited Into New Contest

Future authors are invited to submit entries to the second county-wide writing contest sponsored by the Showcase Writers Club, according to Mrs. Ruby Bridwell, president

The contest opens for entries December 1 and closes January 31, 1977.

Three grade groups are invited to enter: Kindergarten through second, third through sixth and seventh through ninth grades.

Three categories are open to each child entering the contest — articles, 200 words or less; poetry, 12 lines or less and stories, 300 or less.

One entry is accepted in each category. Work must be original and unpublished.

The club asks that parents and teachers do not change the children's writing. All entries must be the entrant's own version.

Two copies of each category are needed for two judges on standard 8½ x 11 paper and must be typed, printed clearly or xeroxed. Entries should be doublespaced.

No names should be printed on the entries, but name, address, zip code, phone, age, parents' name, title of entry and category must be printed on a 3 x 5 card sent with entry.

Complete rules are available in some public libraries and schools or may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Showcase Writers Club, P.O. Box 691, Lemon Grove, California 92045.

Now Is Time To Sign Up At G'mont College

Applications are now being accepted at Grossmont College for admission to spring semester.

Prospective students have until January 12 to complete and return application forms to the office of Admissions and Records on the El Cajon campus.

A spokesman at the college advises applicants to file as soon as possible in order to obtain a high priority rank. Priorities determine when a student is permitted to register for classes.

A class schedule booklet itemizing spring semester class offerings is expected to be available in December. Meanwhile, a tentative list of classes is posted in the admissions office.

The schedule books will cost 25 cents and are sold in the campus bookstore.

Movie Scheduled At Friends Church

"Happiness Is . . .", an entertaining motion picture of a moral and spiritual nature will be shown November 28 at 7 p.m. at the Spring Valley Friends Church, corner of Bancroft and Kenwood rds.

The film was produced to "present the Gospel in a way that would penetrate the hearts of children as well as minister to people of all ages."

According to the producer the film tells, with humor and suspense as captivating elements, of three boys who form a secret club and the girl, who, when not admitted to the club, is determined to expose it and the boys. The events are said to be as exciting as any of Tom Sawyer's adventures.

When it premiered in Des Moines, "Happiness Is . . ." was seen by more than 7,600 people in three days.

Christmas Concert

The public is welcome to a Christmas concert to be held Thursday, December 9 at the Cedar Community Center, 320 Date st., San Diego.

The Grace Notes Choral Group will perform at 1:30 p.m. in the dining room.

Frances Taylor, of 939 Gillespie dr., Spring Valley, and H. Hugh Radcliffe, also of Spring Valley, were married November 13 at United Methodist Church of Lemon Grove.

Dr. Dudley Johnson, church pastor, performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Carman Ranch Club. The couple wrote the entire ceremony.

An eighty-day auto trip up the California coast and inland constituted their honeymoon. They will continue to reside in Spring Valley.

Lemon Grove School District Would Build Mini-Parks, Fences With Public Works Money

Time is of the essense for the Lemon Grove School District in submitting an application for a share of the Public Works Employment Act, a law providing federal funds to stimulate the economy and reduce unemployment.

Title I of the three-phase legislation authorizes a $2 million anti-recessionary public works program to be administered by the Economic Development Administration of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

State and local governments, including political subdivisions such as school and water districts, are eligible to apply for Title I funds.

As areas with acute unemployment are given higher priority in allocations, several school districts in the San Diego area have prepared applications for funds.

The deadline for submitting an application is Dec. 3. The school board was expected to have its forms properly filled out and mailed in time, although a few last minute details were handled as late as this week.

The application is for a mini-park and automatic sprinkler system at seven school sites patterned after a similar project in use at Golden Avenue School.

It also asks for security fencing at three schools in the district — Mt. Vernon, Vista La Mesa and San Miguel.

The additional fencing would complete the district's security fencing goal with the exception of Golden Avenue School which would remain partially fenced.

Although enclosing the school sites with chain-link fences is unpopular in the community, the school board maintains that it has cut vandalism costs considerably at schools where it has been constructed.

Preliminary estimate of the total cost of the projects is $138,000, all of which would be provided from the Public Works Act. Projects funded are 100 per cent grants.

About ten people would be employed for the Lemon Grove School project according to Paul Reynolds, Asst. Supt. for Business.

The school board met in a special session last week to okay spending $400 for engineer's study and assistance with the application. If approved by the Public Works review board, another $2640 will be spent on the engineering of the project alone. The engineer's fee is included in the federal grant.

"We're fighting a real time crunch in that the deadline is the 3rd," Reynolds said. "But we intend to have our application mailed in time."

Lee Bean is the engineer assigned to the project.

Original plans were drawn up with the volunteer aid of Robert Swanson, director of Parks and Recreation in Imperial Beach and a resident of Lemon Grove.

Tell It to Grandma

By Edith Macias

Another week has come and gone, and my ears have radar beams out in every direction listening for all the little people so that I might pick up a 'cutie' from their parents.

In a doctor's office some time ago — and you'd be surprised what you can hear there — they called the patients by intercom and the little intercom-box was hardly noticeable in the wall.

They called this little guy's name and he got up and looked all around, looked at each door but couldn't see who had called him.

Again the voice came out of the wall asking, "Is Bobby Brown here, please?"

After a moment's hesitation he answered "Yes, wall".

I don't blame him for being all unsure and everything. It must have been something of a shock for it is not every day that a wall speaks to you!

Kids also take things far more literally than the rest of us — like the little fellow when his dad was trying to show him some boxcars on a railroad siding. The kid couldn't see them at all and his dad said "Look! They're sitting right over there." The kid saw them about that time and said, "They don't sit down; They stand up." He was right, you know! A boxcar would look awfully silly bent into a sitting posiion!

I'm not sure I can get by with this one but I hear worse on television all the time. Besides, to a child's mind it isn't profane at all but simply a fact stated.

Some years ago our minister dropped by for a visit and my little sister (who had just been paddled) was still crying.

Brother Ford picked her up, sat her on his lap and asked "What's the matter Susie?" — Pointing to our mother, she said "Mama did!" Our minister asked, 'What did mama do? Tell me and we will do the same thing to her." To which the baby replied "Her 'panked my butt!" (And if the editor cuts this out of the script I just might go therefore and do him likewise.)

And while we are on the subject, I was trying to get my two-year-old granddaughter to simply tell me that she wanted to go to the bathroom rather than say exactly what she needed to do there, and had told her over and over "That's not a nice word, honey." As we were driving past an Indian village I pointed to it and said, "Look at those tepees."

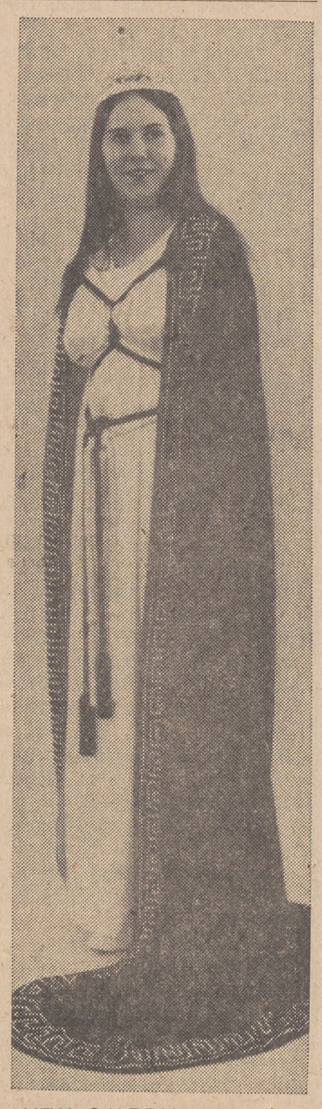
She looked all right, but not before asking, "Grandma, is that a nice word?"

Guess that will learn me! Telling the baby some words are not nice and then use them myself! To keep peace the tepees promptly became wigwams.

You, too, can get your grandchild's name in print. Call Edith Macias at 465-0742 and tell her what the youngster said that was cute. The column is open to all relatives—even mom and pop.

Marcias is a genuine grandma and a long time Spring Valley resident. Her grandmotherly style of writing should contribute to readers' interest in her column.

If you'd rather write, address her at this newspaper, P.O. Box 127, Lemon Grove, 92045.



NEW QUEEN — Cynthia Baker of Lemon Grove is destined to be crowned the new Honored Queen of the local chapter of the International Order of Job's Daughters.

Job's Daughters To Crown New Honored Queen

Cynthia Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Baker of Lemon Grove, is installed as Honored Queen of Bethel No. 229, Lemon Grove International Order of Job's Daughters, Saturday, December 4 at the Masonic Temple at 2590 Main st., Lemon Grove.

Ceremonies begin at 7:30 p.m.

Installing Honored Queen is Sandy Murzi.

Other elected officers to be present are Brenda Dale, senior princess; Tama Dawson, Jr., princess; Dori Dial, guide; and Joan Oswalt, marshal.

Appointed officers include Della Ball, chaplain; Joyce Wheeler, treasurer; Barbara Mansfield, recorder; Teena Dawson, musician; and Janeen Wheeler, librarian.

First messenger is Nancy Mansfield; Carrie Cardinalli, second messenger; Lisa Riska, third; Debbie Patterson, fourth; and Susan MacKenzie, fifth.

Economics of Career Not Taught, Says Industrialist

College students should take special economic courses related to their future profession, a San Diego industrialist told educators at a recent convention.

"When a student pursues a career in chemistry, he receives no knowledge of the economics of running a chemical plant. He has no idea of what it costs to develop and market a new product," said Walter Zable, president of Cubic Corporation, a San Diego-based firm which operates Spring Valley's U. S. Elevator Company.

Zable was addressing the annual meeting of the Southern University Educators last week in Atlanta, Georgia.

Bringing pragmatic economic information to the college student is an important step in light of the vast amount of misinformation about business that exists in the U. S. today, Zable said.

"The journalist has no idea what it takes to run a newspaper. The engineer hasn't the foggiest notion of what costs are required to bid a job, maintain a work force, or complete a contract.

"Photographers aren't taught what it takes to run a photography store or a studio or even how to price a print," he pointed out. "And how many educators in the country have any knowledge about the economics of running a university?" he added.

It is important that we begin re-educating our future opinion makers, because they have a lot of misinformation already, he said.

Waste Paper Wanted For Helix High Band Rose Parade Trip

The Helix High School Band is staging a newspaper drive to help cover the cost of their trip to the 1977 Tournament of Roses Parade.

Bundled newspapers, phone books, and bundled used notebook paper are being collected. The drive runs through December 24.

Papers may be deposited in the bin provided in the Helix High School student parking lot on Lowell st. in La Mesa.

The paper drive is part of a seven-week effort to raise $7,500 to cover Rose Parade travel and lodging expenses, Gerald Kirk, band director, said.

To Stage New Comedy Version of Dickens' 'Christmas Carol'

San Diego City College presents the San Diego Repertory Theatre in an original musical adaption of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" for 16 holiday performances December 16 through 26.

The new comic version of the Dickens' classic features a young professional ensemble of actors, dancers, mimes and live musicians. SD Repertory staged the San Diego Comedy Festival this past summer and opened their 1976-77 season with "The Maids" by Jean Genet.

Curtain times are at 8 p.m. December 16 through 23, 25 and 26. 2:30 p.m. matinees are scheduled for December 18, 19, 21, 22, 23 and 26. Performances will be in the San Diego City College Theatre, 14th and C streets, parking adjacent to the theatre.

Tickets are $4 general and $3 for senior citizens, military and children 14 and under.

Banquets Mark Success Of Teen-Challenge Effort

The San Diego organization of the Southern California Teen Challenge will hold a series of banquets in the county in December to celebrate the cure of 117 drug addicted young people during the year.

The organization reported that 363 men were admitted to their Riverside Rehab Center —35 were from San Diego.

In the East County the banquet will be December 4 at the Bronze Room in La Mesa. Others are: December 3, Town & Country, Mission Valley; December 6, Bonita Country club, and December 7, Elks Club, Escondido.

The banquet celebrations will feature ex-drug addicts who will tell how they found an answer to their bondage to drugs. An ex-addict's men's choir will provide entertainment.

The public is invited to the banquets but reservations should be made at 461-9111.

Home Federal Aids Phone Book Recycle

SAN DIEGO — Home Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Diego collected over 400 San Diego phone books from employees for recycling. The effort, coordinated with California Public Interest Research Group (CALPIRG), will result in the books being turned over to Security Shredding Company to be made into packing materials. Whatever money is collected from the sale of the books by CALPIRG will be shared with the San Diego Ecology Center for further local environmental projects.

It is estimated that approximately 32,529 trees go into making the 765,391 phone books distributed in San Diego County, and it is CALPIRG's intention to minimize this waste.

The group, made up of volunteers from local universities, participates in various community service projects. It is one of a nationwide network of public interest groups generated by Ralph Nader.

Persons having quantities of outdated phone books in excess of 200 may contact CALPIRG at 236-1508 for collection.

Plans will be announced for a Christmas party and dinner. Mrs. Solon Beatty is chairman of Wednesday's refreshment hour.

'Sweetheart' in Medical Group

Lemon Grove Medical Group financial counselor Sherry McCauley was honored today as a KFMB Radio "Sweetheart of the Day."

Working at 3240 Main st., she received a sweetheart bouquet, color portrait sitting, dinner for two and hairstyling on her special day as well as day-long 'on-the-air" salutes.

This Week's RECIPE

After the Feast — Something Different

After the feasting is finished, you'll welcome a change of taste. Save the turkey for sandwiches and follow up the holiday meal with something different.

PORK CHOPS ONIONDINE

- 4 thick chops (1½ lb.)
- ⅛ tsp. salt
- Generous dash pepper
- 4 thick slices onion
- 1 can pork & beans with tomato sauce
- 2 tbsp. ketchup
- 1 tbsp. brown sugar
- 1 tsp. prepared mustard

In skillet, brown chops (use shortening if necesary); pour off fat. Season with salt and pepper; top chops with onion. Cover; cook over low heat 30 minutes. Add remaining igredeints. Cook uncovered 15 minutes more or until chops are done. Stir occasionally. Makes 4 servings.

'Heavenly Cinder' Revived for Yule

For fifteen years a little black puppet dog was the star of "The Heavenly Cinder" every Christmas season at the Puppet Theatre in Balboa Park.

Because Marie Hitchcock has received so many requests to revive the traditional yuletide play it will be shown again December 5, 12 and 19. Curtain times are at 1, 2 and 3 p.m.

"Heavenly Cinder" is the story of a dog who wanders into Paradise and becomes the pet and playmate of the cherubs. Having no wings, he frequently falls into the clouds below Heaven much to the dismay of the Messenger Angel who rescues him.

How the dog performs a good deed and wins the right to wear wings and stay in Paradise forever makes a delightful Christmas tale for young and old alike.

An original play, "Heavenly Cinder" was written by Marie Hitchcock.. It was recorded on tape and produced by Genevieve Engman who also designed and made the marionettes.

Investments, Wills Are Tues. Lecture Topics

Investments and wills will be the lecture topic of attorney Peter Piper when he addresses the Las Donas Club, the past presidents' organization within the California Federation of Women's Clubs, District 26.

Las Donas members will meet Tuesday at the Broadway Tea Room in Chula Vista, 10 a.m.

Pigskin to Fill Air In Charger-Chiefs Game

Fans may see more passing Sunday than they've seen on the Stadium turf in many moons.

The Chargers (5-6) will tackle the Kansas City Chiefs (3-8) beginning at 1 p.m.

Good seats in the $13, $8.50 and $7 sections are still available.

Quarterback Dan Fouts of the Chargers leads the American Conference in pass completions with 171 and is fourth in yards gained with 2,136. Charlie Joiner leads the National Football League in yards gained receiving with 970 on 45 catches.

No. 1 in Passing

Kansas City is the No. 1 passing team in the AFC. Quarterback Mike Livingston ranks third in yards gained with 2,274 and fourth in completions with 155. Fullback MacArthur Lane has caught 47 passes for 572 yards.

Completing his first eight passes en route to a 19-of-29 performance, Fouts led the Chargers over the Buffalo Bills, 34-12, at Buffalo last Sunday. The Chiefs lost to the Cincinnati Bengals, 27-24, at Kansas City.

San Diego beat Kansas City, 30-16, in the season's opener at Kansas City. However, the Chiefs have posted their three victories this year playing away from home. They included back-to-back upsets of the Washington Redskins, 33-30, and Miami Dolphins, 20-17.

The first 15,000 persons to enter the stadium Sunday will receive a new color poster of the Chargers, compliments of Dean's Photo Service.

Kansas City leads the series, 17-15-1. Strangely, the Chiefs have beaten the Chargers four years in a row at San Diego (12-10 last year) while the Chargers have won four of five and three in a row at Kansas City.

Scoring 27 points in the first half last week, San Diego handed Buffalo its worst 1976 defeat, 34-13, before 41,701 at frosty Buffalo.

Dan Fouts passed for 200 yards and hit Charlie Joiner on touchdown passes of five and 30 yards. Joiner caught six for 97 yards. Rickey Young ran for 82 yards in 11 carries, caught four passes and scored a touchdown. Ray Wersching hit on field goals of 35 and 45 yards, the latter on a free kick at the end of the half.

Mike Fuller had his best day returning punts with seven for 136 yards. Along with two interceptions by linebacker Don Goode (to raise his season's total to six) and one by Mike Williams, the San Diego return yardage total was a season-high 254.

Since fearless Mike Fuller began returning punts for the Chargers, he has never called for a fair catch. He returned 36 punts in 1975 and 25 this year. There were 12 other punt returns by Chargers also without a fair catch.

But the streak of 73 ended last Sunday, and happily for San Diego. Mike Williams signalled for the fair catch of a Marv Bateman punt as time ran out in the first half. It set up a 45-yard free kick field goal by Ray Wersching.

Coincidentally, what is believed to be the all-time record for number of fair catches is held by a Charger. In 1969, the signal and catch was made 24 times by Kenny Graham.

Ralph Perretta

Ralph Perretta had a memorable day Sunday. The two-year veteran center from Purdue started his first pro game.

"He played well," said offensive line coach Bobb McKittrick. "He is young, aggressive, tough and has a good future."

But Perretta also will remember the game for another reason. A converted guard who became the Charger punt snapper a month ago, Ralph sailed a snap some 25 yards over the head of punter Jeff West. It was recovered in the end zone for a Buffalo touchdown.

"I just didn't concentrate," said Perretta. "I had too much on my mind."

The Chargers play the San Francisco 49ers at San Diego Stadium on Sunday, Dec. 5,

LG Gets Taste Of Local Adult Slow-Pitch

Adult softball has come to Lemon Grove.

Bob Adams, publicity man for the fledgling all-volunteer Lemon Grove Recreation Association and Chief of the LG Fire District, said three leagues of three-pitch slow-pitch softball have been formed.

First games commence Monday, November 29.

Play will be Monday through Thursday nights, 6 to 10 p.m. and all games are played at Lemon Grove Junior High School under the lights.

Adult men's, women's and coed leagues have been organized for a winter season lasting through February 16.

"Team entry fee is between $80 and $96, depending on residency and which league," Adams said. The fee pays for lighting, equipment and umpires.

Needs exist for at least one more women's team and one more coed team. At present, ten men's, seven women's and five coed teams have signed up.

SD Cuts Outsiders

Adams said he has been trying to form a league since last spring when the City of San Diego Recreation Dept. informed him and his teammates that the city would no longer admit teams that were comprised of less than 75 per cent SD City residents.

Adams heard about the newly formed LGRA and joined to organize the softball program.

"If all slots are filled, we will provide recreation for 400 adults," he said. "That's not bad for a first try."

Lemon Grove does not have a tax-supported recreation district. Voters have turned down measures to establish one, the latest attempt having been last year. LGRA was formed in July of this year.

Anyone wishing to play in the softball league should contact Adams at 464-1344 or Don Linfesty, Golden Avenue School Community School Director, at 469-3775.

Hoop Season Opens For Toreros Sat.

The Torero hoop season opens Saturday with USD hosting La Verne College at 8 p.m. in the USD Gymnasium (on Linda Vista Road).

La Verne College was 12-14 last year, and their coach Art Bias feels they should be better this year with the addition of 6-5 forward Mike Sharp (Jr. from Barstow JC).

USD Coach Jim Brovelli is not certain who he will be able to start. The line-up he hopes to have ready is Eddie Davis (5-9, Sr., 12.9 ppg) and Ron Cole (6-4, Jr.) at guard; Buzz Harnett (6-8, Jr., 10.2ppg) and Mike Keller (6-6, Sr.) at forward; and Gary Ely (6-10, Sr., 6.1 ppg) at center.

However, Eddie Davis (groin) and Mike Koller (ankle sprain) are nursing injuries. If they don't start, Mike Strode (5-11, Jr., 8.7 ppg) will start at guard and either Rick Michelmore (6-5, Jr.) or William Stewart (6-5, Jr.) will start at forward.

It is depth, proven by able substitutes, that will be the biggest asset to the Torero basketball team in 1976-77. Coach Brovelli claims, "Without a doubt this team has more depth than any I've had here at USD. I hope to find the right combination from these players to have a winning season."

Off-Road Racing Crown Won by Bill Silverthorn

Bill Silverthorn, 34, of 7031 Lemonwood lane in Lemon Grove, will be officially crowned off-road racing "king" of the prestigious SCORE association at a championship banquet in Los Angeles January 15. He is high-point scorer in unlimited single-seat buggy class where VW engines-power most of the vehicles. SCORE is the major sanctioning body promoting off-road racing.

SCORE awards points in relation to the driver's finish. Courses are so tough that even finishing the race is considered an accomplishment. The championship will give Silverthorn about $2,500 from the point-fund plus a number of valuable gifts, one of which is a Chenowth-built 2-seat fun buggy — worth $5,000. Chenowth manufactures race car chassis.

Silverthorn also took away sizable purses in three of the four SCORE races this year. He won the Parker (Ariz.) 400 in February and took away about $4,000. He was sixth in Riverside in August and that gave him an additional $600.

He had amassed enough points by the time of the Baja 1000 kilometer in September — the last of SCORE's four races this year — to have a chance at the crown if he finished well up in the pack. Exercising caution, Silverthorn and his relief driver, Carl Adams, decided to run at less than top speed.

Silverthorn drove the first sections of the race. Adams, an El Cajon ex-NASCAR stock car racer, relieved him for the middle third. Third place gave Silverthorn the points he needed to give him.

Storm Brings Problems

Baja fans will recall that the Baja had to be postponed one day by a rainstorm. Low areas on the course were still covered by water during the race," Silverthorn said. Slowing for the water holes added about 10 per cent to the time of the race, he said. But that brought some advantages, too. "We weren't bothered by dust problems," he grinned.

The Baja 100 k. was won by Ivan Stewart of Lakeside in a Chenowth "1,000" chassis (12 hours).

Malcolm Smith of Riverside was second in 14½ hours.

Silverthorn, in a Chenowth "Wedge" chassis was third in 15 hours.

Silverthorn's racer stands him about $10,000. Rims cost about $100 each; tires $50; the chassis is tailored (always by Chenowth) and extensive modification is made on VW engines he uses. The car's body is hand built. $10,000 doesn't go too far under those conditions.

But he gets aid from some firms. When he races, Travelodge supplies a room without charge. Potter Machine Co. in Chula Vista, does much of his machine work without charge. King's Door & Window provides some funds. Honda of L.G., where Silverthorn is employed, supplies time-off and money. But he needs a major sponsor. One who would like to see his firm's name on the race car driven by the champion.

There's work to racing. Drivers go over the lengthy courses before the race is run. Silverthorn drove the Baja 100 twice before the contest. He memorized twists and turns, particularly those with trees or rock outcroppings. Course signs often disappear and good judgement and memory is needed just to stay on the track. Where there is a cottage there is a possibility of cows on the road. In the wilds a coyote can cause an accident.

Silverthorn said quick reaction, concentration and accuracy on turns is vital. But these requirements leave the driver mentally and physically exhausted.

But he'll be in four or more SCORE races next year.

The trophy will be sponsored by S.D. State U. with U. of Washington, U. of Texas—El Paso, and La Salle College as opposing teams.

Future year's teams already include Pittsburgh and Purdue (1977), Iowa and Pennsylvania (1978) and Indiana, Tennessee and possibly North Carolina (1979).

Two games will be played each evening. Tip-off time is slated for 7:00 p.m.

Proceeds from the tournament will benefit the many community involvement projects of the San Diego Jaycees, as well as bring national recognition to the San Diego State Aztecs.

Prices are $3-$5.50 each evening. For tickets contact the S.D. Jaycee office at 234-4197.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

It must seem longer, but it was just one year ago that Tommy Prothro's pachyderms were going into the 12th weekend of the season standing zero and eleven. Oh, the hurt. The pain. Even for some loyal fans, the shame.

And now look at 'em. Their purgatory has been lifted. Gene Klein's faith in his favorite football team has been fulfilled, somewhat.

The Chargers have turned "it" around. They are almost winners. Sunday they have a chance to climb back into respectability among the lodges of the National Football League. They could go to 6-6 this late in a very tough campaign. That, my friends, is progress.

The key came last Sunday in Buffalo. That was a bigger game than appeared on NBC-TV. It has to do with coming together, snow, a hostile crowd, a visit to the old folks and avocados.

After a near brilliant start, Tommy's troops had fallen on hard times and went into the cold of Western New York with four straight losses.

The Chargers were all business on the trip east. The game plan perfected by Tommy's top offensive lieutenant Bill Walsh had been drilled into near ballet perfection. All were tense waiting for the dance to begin.

Into this serious crowd came a chubby portable pounder loaded down with 47 sweaters and a brown paper bag filled with California avocados.

"What's in the bag," asked a friendly Johnny Sanders, who serves as Charger general manager when not occupied elsewhere posing as Santa Claus for Christmas cards.

"Avocados for my mother and mother-in-law," came the answer from the chubby writer. "They claim you can't get them in Buffalo in the winter time. They're a surprise."

"Glad to have you on the trip," grinned Sanders. "Say hello to your mother for me."

And so it went. Coaches, players and fellow travelers all asked to be remembered to my 76-year-old mother, none of whom, of course, she knew.

"They sound like nice boys," she said when I later presented the greetings and avocados. "But I still hope our Bills beat them."

Even at 76, the old girl is fiesty.

"I hope you thanked those nice Charger people," she reminded me, as a mother will. "You know, they made possible only your second visit home in the last 15 years. But I still hope we beat your ears off."

The Chargers were sweating during sub-freezing temperatures in workouts with blowing snow while my mother took me to visit her apartment neighbors, city dwellers living in a community 11 stories up into the snow clouds.

"You must have tea," insisted one of a pair of sisters living together in retirement after a lifetime of work, grown children and the loneliness of widowhood.

Tea is not a drink I favor in early afternoons, but my role was as an accommodating son and I took the cup. My mother smiled and sipped her tea. I nearly gagged on my first sip. The good sisters had filled my cup with booze.

They smiled over the rim of their cups. Both agreed with my mother there was "nothing like a brisk cup of tea to put you straight" and refilled her cup from the pot. Mine was returned to the kitchen for refilling.

After visits with family and friends the importance of the game again claimed my attention. The Bills were home in this foul weather, and had just played a helluva game against Dallas. Blitzing was their thing and Dan Fouts was not noted for his swiftness of foot.

Television viewers couldn't feel the cold when the Bills kicked off in the 29-degree freeze. And Prothro and his coaching corps had done such a fine job of preparing their troops, it was apparent the chill didn't bother the Chargers, either.

It's only cold when you lose," was the way Prothro put it after the game. Always the gentleman, he also asked, "Did you have a nice visit with your mother?"

The victory was more than just a win, and the Chargers are more than just a bunch of football players. They've grown together like a family. And from the looks of things they are primed and ready for better things.

A .500 season is likely and a winning season is still a possibility. On the field, and off, the Chargers are winners in the people league.

Traveling Mariners Here For 1 Game in 20 Days

San Diego fans are getting only a fleeting glance at the S.D. Mariners as they drop into the Arena for a couple of games about a week apart.

Last night the team hosted the Edmonton Oilers. Next Thursday it'll be Phoenix. Except for these two games the team will be on the road for 9 games.

Nine of the next 11 games will be away from home meaning the Mariners will have played just ten of their first 31 games this season in front of local supporters.

San Diego and Edmonton met last week at the Arena in the first of eight matches and the Mariners managed two late scores for a 4-2 triumph.

San Diego coach Ron Ingram has experimented with some line changes during recent games and is still undecided on his groupings for Edmonton. Individually, center Joe Noris has points in six of his last seven outings and 16 of 20 overall, center Andre Lacroix in 14 of 20, winger Norm Ferguson in 13 of 20 and four of his last six and defenseman Kevin Morrison in six of his last eight.

Prior to last night's game the Mariners were undefeated in eight straight home games this season (6-0-2) and were closing in on their record of ten consecutive Arena games without defeat set last season (8-0-2).

Quarterhorse Meet Opens at Los Alamitos

LOS ALAMITOS—The fifth annual Horsemen's Quarter Horse Racing Assn. meeting at Los Alamitos will get underway on Saturday, December 4, and has been called by some, including national training champion D. Wayne Lukas, "the best meet in the country."

As in previous years, the 59-date HQHRA season will be split into a day segment and a night session with 12:45 p.m. racing prevailing through December 24 with racing on a Tuesday-through-Sunday basis. Nighttime activity will begin on December 25 and continue on a Monday-through-Saturday schedule until February 10 with first post 7:45 p.m.

Only the finest quarter horses, jockeys and trainers in the nation will be displaying their wares during the nine-week campaign and last year's national training champion Lukas echoes that opinion.

COP'er Bowl Grid Game —SDPD vs. Sheriff's Men

Boys Clubs of San Diego city and county will benefit from San Diego's first annual COP'er Bowl football game scheduled for January 8 at 7:30 p.m.

On that night athletes of the County Sheriff's Department will meet grid stars of the S.D. Police Department on the grass of S.D. Stadium.

In addition to football, there will be a fireworks display, marching bands, Keystone Kops, and, of course, the boom of the cannon when and if either team scores.

According to Sheriff's Sgt. Cliff Zucker, the game should be a sell-out, and he's probably right. Tickets are only $2, regardless of the age of the fan and the game promises to be a sterling one, played under college rules. A number of the members have played football. Peace officers are required to keep physically fit and both teams are scrimmaging regularly so it is unlikely that the game will be a laugher.

Workouts at College

The Sheriff's men are working out at Grossmont College; SDPD players are at Aztec Bowl. Russ Leslie, Patrick Henry football coach is mentor of the police team. Ron Post, former pro player and presently an officer with the Chula Vista Police Department coaches the sheriff's team.

COP'er Bowl is similar to the Pig Bowl in Sacramento which is now in its third year. Each year the Pig Bowl has been a sell-out. Last year fans bought 24,000 tickets to the 16,000 seat stadium. It, also, aids youth projects.

Zucker estimates the project here will raise $60,000. Part of food and drink concession income will go into the fund. 80 per cent of all income will be turned over to the Boys Clubs organizations earmarked for juvenile delinquency programs. The other 20 per cent will be "seed money" for next year's contest.

Sponsoring organizations are the S.D. County Sheriff's Assn. and the S.D. Police Athletic Federation. The project has the approval of the police chief and the sheriff.

Tickets are available at Ticketron outlets, Sears and at other locations to be announced later. Officers will not sell tickets.

Bonita Vista, Einstein Schools Race Winners

The Spring Valley Park and Rec. Dist. Cross Country Race resulted in Bonita Vista Junior High school winning the 8th Grade team championship. Einstein Junior High was 7th Grade champ.

Results: Elementary classes 1 1/2 miles

Tiny Robinson, 11:31, San Altos, 1st.; Tim Stout, Rancho, 2nd.

7th Graders — 1 1/2 miles

First three places taken by Bonita Vista. Archer, McBride and Durke, 1, 2, 3. Einstein Junior High took 4, 5, 6 places. Morton and Hitchcock were the racers.

8th Graders, 2 miles

1st. Morable, Bonita Vista; 2nd. Ridge, S.V. Jr. High; 3rd. Martin, Bonita Vista; 4th. Lee, Palm Junior High; 5th. Johnson, and 6th. Stewart, both of Parkway Junior High.

Competition was on November 18 at Mt. Miguel High School track.

Griffs End Grid Season at 5-5

Grossmont College's frustrating 1976 football season came to an end last Saturday in Costa Mesa where Orange Coast College defeated the Griffins, 26-6, behind the running and passing of freshman quarterback Larry Hall.

Hall, a converted tight end, hit six of nine passe for 98 yards and three touchdowns, while running 19 times for 79 yards.

OCC finished second to South Coast Conference champion Fullerton with a 4-2 conference mark and a season record of 6-4. The champion Hornets were 5-1, and 82.

Grossmont, meanwhile, concluded play with a 2-4 SCC record and a season mark of 5-5.

Grossmont's only score came on a one-yard plunge by fullback Roland Jouglet in the final quarter.

Griff quarterback Jim Freitas hit on 11 of 21 passes for 160 yards in his final appearance in a Grossmont uniform. He finished with 1,784 yards and 16 touchdowns, completing 140 of 250 passes.

Padres Training Starts March 10

The San Diego Padres will play a slate of 25 spring training games in 1977 it was announced by Padres President Buzzie Bavasi.

The spring schedule will feature 10 home games at the Padres spring training base in Yuma, Arizona and 12 road encounters plus three games here in San Diego on the final weekend of the spring training period. The two contests in San Diego will be pitting the Padres against the Oakland A's on Saturday, April 2 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, April 3 at 1 p.m. in San Diego Stadium.

Actually, the Padres will really have three dates on tap in San Diego as the club will take on USD on the USD campus field on Friday, April 1 with the proceeds of the game going to the Toreros baseball fund. The money will be used primarily to upgrade the facility in the form of permanent-style seating.

While the club has not set a definite date as of yet for the opening of camp, the first exhibition contest is scheduled for Thursday, March 10 against the California Angels in Yuma. The schedule will then run through Monday, April 4.

San Diego's schedule for Yuma figures to be an attractive one this season with two weekend series on the docket. The schedule for Yuma shows the following: March 10—California, March 12-13—Seattle, March 20—Cleveland, March 24—Chicago, March 25—Cleveland, March 26-27—San Francisco, March 28—California and March 30 — Milwaukee. The Padres will be playing all of the seven other Cactus League clubs in Yuma at least once with the exception of Oakland.

SDSU Hoopsters Open Against UCLA Friday

The S.D. State U. basketball team draws the unenviable assignment of playing the UCLA Bruins three times in 12 months when the Aztecs open the 1976-77 season Friday at 8 p.m. in Pauley Pavilion. Monday, State opens the home season against Northern Arizona at 8 p.m. in Peterson Gym.

All Aztec basketball games will be broadcast in the S.D. and L.A. areas on KFMB Radio (760) and the UCLA game can be seen on television at 10 p.m. on KTLA-5 out of L.A.

Last season the Aztecs and Bruins met twice with UCLA winning both games.

In the second game in the First Round of the NCAA Playoffs in Eugene, Oregon, the Bruins won again by a 74-64 count.

Most of San Diego' State's main cast of players from last year have departed with Connelly the only returning starter. He will open at one forward after playing center most of the past two seasons.

The other Aztec starters figure to be Brian Frishman at the forward opposite Connelly, Fred Branch at center, Percy Gilbert at one guard and either Mark Delsman or Dean Decker at the other guard. Frishman is a transfer from BYU where he averaged better than 15 points a game two years ago.

Sharks Play 2 Games

The S.D. Sharks will face one of the toughest semi-pro hockey teams on the west coast Saturday and Sunday when the Fresno Falcons come to the House of Ice for a pair of games.

Faceoff time for both games is 6 p.m.

San Diego was 4-0 in Pacific Southwest Hockey League play until Sunday night when the L.A. Bruins snapped their streak with a 5-3 score.

The Hearst Offer A Point of View

Sportscasters and Sportswriters showed mixed emotions when Randolph Hearst put up a million dollars bail for Patty's release.

A baseball writer observed that Randolph could have done better.

"He could get a .275 hitter for a million," the writer said.

Grid Goal Of Aztecs Is 10-1 Sat.

A 10 win season will be on the line Saturday for the S.D. State U. football team when the Aztecs host an explosive U. of New Mexico team at 7:30 p.m. in San Diego Stadium.

The game which is the season finale for both teams, pits the 9-1 Aztecs against the 4-6 Lobos. The Aztecs have won 10 games in a season on five occasions. The first was in 1951 with Bill Schutte the coach (10-0-1) and the other four were all under Don Coryell (11-0) in 1966, 10-1 in 1967, 11-0 in 1969 and 10-1 in 1972).

Despite their record New Mexico will not be an easy task for the Aztecs. The Lobos are a tremendously explosive team that is averaging 392.4 yards total offense per game.

Fullback Mike Williams is New Mexico's top offensive weapon with 1073 yards on 223 carries. He gained 126 of those yards on 28 carries in last week's 21-15 win over Arizona. Quarterback Noel Mazzone is the No. 2 rusher with 540 yards on 170 carries.

The Aztecs ran their record to 9-1 last week with a 10-3 conquest of Long Beach State.

San Diego State's defense was superb in the game allowing Long Beach just one first down through the first three quarters and just seven in the game. Long Beach managed just 135 yards total offense with 60 rushing and 75 passing.

The Aztecs had 207 net yards rushing against a Long Beach defense that was allowing just 133 per game. David (Deacon) Turner of the Aztecs returned to action and gained 130 yards on 29 carries. Turner now has 836 yards on 155 carries. He has done that while playing in just five ball games. Turner needs 164 yards Saturday to join Norm Nygaard and Jim Allison as San Diego State's only 1,000 yard rushers.

Reverse Trend Seen In Coronary Disease

Incidents of coronary and artery disease have fallen some 18 per cent since 1963, Merle Hamilton, chairman of the San Diego County Heart Association's Memorial Committee, said recently.

Deaths from such disease had been steadily increasing since it was first recognized early in this century. The increase reached its peak 13 years ago.

"Cardiovascular diseases take the lives of more than 5,000 San Diegans annually," he said.

Study Uncovers New Diet Needs for Cats

Healthy vegetarian cats are being raised at the University of California, Davis, but if you want to keep your cat feeling fit, give it a varied diet, avoid feeding a lot of milk, and never insult it with dog food.

According to UC animal nutritionist James G. Morris a cat needs protein and some different vitamins than those present in commercial dog foods.

A bowl of milk for pussycat may not be good because older cats have trouble digesting lactose in milk and develop diarrhea if they are fed too much milk.

Commercial cat foods vary widely in mineral content and a variety will assure that your cat gets a balanced diet.

Morris' initial research showed, for the first time, that cats can suffer from a deficiency of two essential vitamins — B-12 and biotin.

A biotin deficiency causes loss of hair and accumulation of dried secretions around the eyes and mouth. The B-12 deficiency is characterized by loss of body weight and certain biochemical changes.

Morris also found that cats do a good job of digesting most carbohydrates such as starches, a major class of food for animals formed primarily in green plants.

He has even raised vegetarian cats — animals that are now three years old and in top health without ever having any animal protein in their diet other than their mother's milk.

"This means that as the demand for high quality animal protein for humans and other animals increases, cats can shift to a diet using only cereal grains and other plan products," says Morris.

Most recently, Morris has been working with UC animal physiologist Quinton Rogers on the protein and amino acid requirements of cats.

"The percentage of protein that adult cats need in their diets is about three times greater than that of many other adult animals, including man," says Morris.

He explained that most adult animals can go for extended periods with low levels of amino acids in their diet, but that cats appear to lose the ability to conserve amino acids by regulating their rate of breakdown.

In fact, the UC researchers found that just one meal without the amino acid arginine will kill an adult cat.

"Most reputable pet food companies try to produce a balanced diet within the confines of what is known about cat nutrition," he adds. "But the dietary requirements of cats need to be better understood before it can be said that a diet is good or bad."

If You Believe You've Been Cheated

This column features a series of consumer protection advisories prepared as a public service by the California Trial Lawyers Association to warn consumers of some of the hazards of business dealings.

Consumers are urged to write CTLA for their Consumer Protection Pamphlet which tells "How Not to Be Cheated and Who to Contact If You Are."

Consumer Warrantees

One of the fastest growing areas of consumer protection law is that involving warranties.

A warranty is basically a statement by the manufacturer as seller of personal, family or household goods, setting forth how much and on what terms he will stand behind his product if it is defective. Warranties are normally given only on new products and can be either express or implied.

When a consumer purchases a new product, such as an automobile, appliance, lawnmower, watch or television set, he or she usually receives an express" (written) warranty with a copy of the sales contract. The terms of this warranty are normally pre-set on a printed form, and become an actual part of the sales contract whether or not the contract so states.

In a sense, the usual express warranty is like an insurance policy. It has a specified term; for example, one year after purchase. It covers only specified defects; for example defects in material and workmanship.

It excludes causes by consumer abuse and specifies whether periodic servicing is required to keep the warranty in effect and how to get the product repaired or replaced if a defect is discovered during the warranty period.

As a written promise to preserve or maintain the utility or performance of a product, or to provide compensation for failure of performance. the express warranty can be a valuable document.

Especially when shopping for big-tag consumer items, be sure to compare warranties carefully. California law requires they be set forth in readily understood language and clearly identify whether it is the manufacturer or retailer who is making the warranty.

What Warranty Means

Generally, if a defective product is returned to the manufacturer, he has the option to repair or replace the item or refund the purchase price, minus a use charge.

If the defective item is to be returned to the retailer who sold the item, he has the same alternatives. If the item is returned to another retailer of the same manufacturer, that retailer may repair or replace but will not refund.

Especially with more expensive items, dealers and manufacturers are often reluctant to replace it or make expensive repairs. If you discover that a product covered by an express warranty is defective, carefully follow warranty instructions and insist that the party making the warranty comply with it.

Few consumers realize that manufacturers and retailers give additional warranties to buyers of consumer goods. These warranties are called "implied" warranties by which the seller impliedly represents that his product is "merchantable." You won't find these warranties in writing because they are said to exist in the sales contract "by operation of law."

By putting a consumer item up for sale in the marketplace, the manufacturer is in essence representing to potential buyers that he used reasonable skill and judgment in making the product. Thus, the consumer has every right to rely on the implied promise that the product will do what it is reasonably supposed to do.

When faced with a refusal to honor a warranty, consumers should not hesitate to consult with an attorney because often a letter or telephone call by an attorney will resolve the matter.

In recent years, the courts and Legislature have adopted a fair and common sense approach to consumer warranties.

The reasoning is essentially as follows: The consumer is usually unable to inspect a product and its components without disturbing the finished product itself. Even if they did make such an inspection, most consumers simply do not have the skill to spot other clearly defective components.

For example, the chances are pretty slim that a consumer could spot a defective refrigerator compressor even if he or she looked at it.

Whether a product is "merchantable" depends on whether it meets certain legal tests. One such test, for example, is that the law requires a new product to be fit for the ordinary purposes for which such goods were used. That is, the product must be of at least fair, average quality. If the product is defective and fails to meet this test, the manufacturer or retailer breached his implied promise that the product is "merchantable."

Another test requires that a product must conform to the promises or affirmations of fact made on the product's label or container, if any. For example, if its container states that the product is "trouble-free" or "completely safe" when in fact the contrary is true, the implied warranty of merchantability is likewise breached by the producer or retailer.

Implied warranties often extend longer than express or written warranties. If you purchase a product which is defective, contact the retailer who sold it to you. If faced with a refusal to honor the warranty, consult an attorney.

For those few situations where legal action becomes a necessity, recent judicial decisions have gone far to construe express warranties liberally in favor of the consumer.

To obtain a copy of California Trial Lawyers Association's Consumer Protection pamphlet designed to acquaint you with your rights in the law, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to CTLA, 1020 12th St., Sacramento 95814. Please specify whether you want it in English or Spanish.

Suit Powers Praised By State Rehab. Chief

The State Rehabilitation director has praised the recent passage of a law which helps provide built-in access for physically impaired in public buildings and conveyances.

A law signed in September by Governor Brown gives the Department of Rehabilitation authority to file lawsuits against violators of State laws which were supposed to guarantee access for physically handicapped to public places and conveyances.

Laws on the books since 1968 require newly constructed facilities for public use to be accessible to the disabled.

"If the architectural design is barrier-free in the first place," State Rehabilitation Director Ed Roberts said, "there will be no need for expensive corrections later."

"Violations, however, have been permitted to continue by county and city building departments that were unable or unwilling to enforce the laws adequately," he said.

"Consequently a large number of facilities continue to be constructed and modified with disregard of the law."

The new law, AB 4452, permits the Department of Rehabilitation to file lawsuits instead of depending upon the Attorney General, district attorneys and city attorneys to take action.

Election Loser Fills Campaign Promise With Report to Board

By John Kowalczyk

Chuck Pennell, first runner up in the recent five-person campaign for a Lemon Grove School Board seat, has submitted a four-page report of comments he claims to have from local residents during his door-to-door campaign.

Pennell said the report, presented to the school board at a recent meeting, "fulfills (his) campaign promise to voters to submit their input to the board."

The candidate has already announced his intentions to try for the board seat again in March 1977.

Pennell said the purpose of the report was to convey the opinions of the people to whom he spoke. Although sympathetic with some of the matters, he declined to personally endorse all of the comments.

The letter lists comments and recommendations concerning the district, the school board or a particular school.

Two generalizations produced from the talks are that most residents think the school district is fulfilling its function and most senior citizens and persons with grown children think they should not have to pay full school taxes.

"Many, he said, "suggested a higher school tax for those who use the schools and lesser amounts for non-school users."

Pennell noted that "some persons in the district think there is little parents can do to impact the school system."

Board Criticism

Many comments and suggestions were directed at the selection process of board members and its business functions.

Some people reportedly prefer a limit on the number of terms a school board member may serve. Several felt only parents with children should serve on the board.

Comments concerning board-district communication included:

• Board members should spend more time talking to parents. One complained that the only time he sees a board member is when he runs for office.

• Meetings (which are held twice a month on Tuesday evenings) should be less formal to encourage parent involvement.

• Board members should attend PTA meetings and should conduct meetings at each school once a year.

• Some thought board members should serve without compensation. At present each member receives $20 a meeting plus travel expenses for out of town engagements.

Chuck Pennell

See story on page 1.

Pennell asked the board to reconsider this at a meeting Tuesday night.

Quality

Several of the hundreds Pennell claims to have spoken with criticized the quality of education in Lemon Grove Schools.

"Approximately ten families (think that) the level of education is so poor, that they have taken their children out of the school district and enrolled them in private schools," he said.

Most parents said the District spent too much on "non-essential, non-educational activities."

"They want more emphasis on basic education," Pennell said.

Although some agreed that permissive parents were at fault, many thought discipline was lacking in the classroom.

Individual Schools

Pennell reported favorable comments about Vista La Mesa, San Miguel, Golden Avenue, Mt. Vernon and San Altos schools.

Responses were mixed, however, from parents of Lemon Grove Junior High, he said. While the music program at the school was praised, parents expressed concern about rowdy children, a need for a stronger emphasis on English, and the lack of bus transportation for children living beyond two miles from school (a recently curtailed service).

Most Palm Junior High parents thought the quality of education "had deteriorated over the past few years," Pennell said.

They also are concerned about a lack of emphasis on English grammar.

"Some parents requested a minimum achievement level," Pennell said, which students would have to attain before promotion to a higher grade level.

Monterey Heights Elementary was singled out as a school where most parents were either neutral, indifferent or dissatisfied with the school's education program.

Complaints listed in the report:

• "Principal provided no leadership." (Principal Eldon "Mike" Meyers recently announced his resignation.)

• Teachers are "out-of-control; allowed to teach anything they wanted."

• Excessive recess time for children.

• Unequal discipline is racially oriented.

• Teachers lack professional commitment.

• Early Childhood Education (intensified instruction for grades K-3) needed.

Pennell said the "only" positive remarks heard about Monterey Heights school were about its Community School program.

The Community School, one of two in the district, assists with the after school recreation program and offers evening classes to youth and adults held on the school site.

Among listed recommendations is expansion of ECE to all schools in the district. ECE programs now serve only San Miguel, Golden Avenue, Vista La Mesa and Mt. Vernon schools.

Att. Gen. Warns Motorists of 'Danger Days'

Drunk driving arrests traditionally soar between now and New Year's Day, according to State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger, who calls this period the "Danger Days."

He noted that state law requires a motorist submit to a chemical test for intoxication when requested to do so by a peace officer who has reasonable cause to believe the driver is under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Under the state's "implied consent law" if a driver refuses the test, even though later acquitted of a drunk driving charge, his driver's license could still be suspended.

A conviction of drunk driving carries other penalties. An individual convicted of drunk driving can be fined as much as $500 and sentenced to jail for as long as six months.

A second conviction within five years carriers minimum penalties of 48 hours in jail and $250 fine and maximum penalties of a year in jail and fine of up to $1000.

Younger said an intoxicated driver involved in an accident in which there is an injury may be convicted of a felony.

Police throughout the state will be on the alert for motorists who appear to be driving under the influence of an intoxicant. If a suspect refuses to take a test for intoxication his driving license may be suspended.

Camera in Loot

A tape recorder and a movie camera, both valued at $180 were taken from the residence of Ann M. Barnett at 7151 London lane, in Lemon Grove on November 16, she told sheriff's detectives.

A key or a tool was used to get in the place.

RV Thefts on Rise, Says CHP

Thefts of recreational vehicles increased 74 per cent during the first nine months of 1976, California Highway Patrol statistics show.

Commissioner Glen Craig said that carry-alls and pick-ups-with-campers are the most popular targets and the spring months of April, May and June the period when thefts are highest.

In June alone 527 recreational vehicles were stolen in California, a 204 per cent climb over last year.

Leading the thieves' popularity list are Willys Carry-alls of pre-1965 vintage. Last year this vehicle type was only 16th on the most-stolen RV list.

Jeep Carryalls (1970 and prior model years) rank second. The next three are Ford pickups with campers (1972 through 1976), Volkswagen campers (1970 and older); and Datsun pickups with campers (1972).

The Commissioner pointed out that when an RV is recovered it "usually is stripped, which means the camper shell is gone and everything of value in the vehicle has been removed."

Craig said the jump in RV thefts represents a portion of an "overall increase in vehicle thefts of about 5 per cent for the first nine months of 1976."

CHAMPAGNE LADY — Last week she was just a cocktail waitress. Today, she is a celebrity, of a sort. Pretty 25-year old Lois Wittner, of San Diego, won the first Annual 10 Downing's Champagne Footrace by circling a downtown S.D. block with a full glass of champagne with the least spillage. Lois defeated 29 other contestants.

She has been invited to make Lemon Grove appearances next week. Wednesday she will display her spill-less prowess at Buster McDonald's Pal's Cafe at Imperial and Lester at 11. At noon she has been invited to Leone's Italian Restaurant at 7836 Broadway. Former S.D. Mayor Frank Curran and Tribune columnist John Sinor were judges. 10 Downing said there would be a Lemon Grove-Spring Valley contest next year.

Lois, who copped the $100 first prize, is regularly employed by the Brigatine Cafe and teaches speech at Mesa and SD State colleges.

Raw Fish Eaters Warned of Infection

Those who have joined the trend of including raw and semi-raw fish dishes in their luncheon or dinner menus should take heed:

An issue of Nutrition & the M.D. released in August reports that the growing popularity of raw and semi-raw fish recipes may account for the rare but increasing incidence of human anisakiasis, an infection with larval aniskaine nematodes which can cause irritation, severe inflammation and ulcers.

The infection is acquired from eating raw, underheated, insufficiently frozen or lightly marinated fish. Fish kept refrigerated for long periods of time before cleaning and curing also can be a prime cause of the infection.

Properly prepared, however, fish should be an important part of all diets and is particularly valuable when watching weight or cholesterol levels, according to the California Dietetic Association. thiamin and niacin.

Two Sets of Youths Charged With Stealing, Stripping VW's

The two youngsters in the VW had a furtive look as they sat parked in the commercial area of La Presa near dark.

Sheriff's detectives Gerry Cantrall and Craigen Bruce (Craig) Henderson, riding in an unmarked car, suspecting a robbery, doubled back to investigate.

The interrogation took place hours later in the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office after a lengthy pursuit in which the sheriff's helicopter gave aid.

When Cantrall and Henderson approached the VW, the two fled driving toward Sweetwater Reservoir. At the intersection of Maria st. and San Carla, the youngsters left the VW, jumped a fence and fled on foot.

The VW, without brakes set, rolled down a steep embankment and plowed into the garage attached to the residence in the next block owned by William Leonard, 9492 Avenida Acero. No one was injured but the garage was damaged.

The car was stolen earlier from Gribble st. near College Grove.

The detectives hurdled a fence to follow the youngsters but they ran too far and too fast. Losing the trail, the officers called for ASTREA, the sheriff's helicopter. Eldon Lauder, private security for the Sweetwater Reservoir, saw the lads in the helicopter spotlight. When the detectives came into Lauder's view, he directed them to the brush area where the youngsters, 15 and 16 were hiding. They were captured and transported to the Lemon Grove office.

Radio Replay

While interrogating the pair, detectives could hear what appeared to be a replay of the operation they had just concluded on the police radio. happened to be a replay of the second and similar chase in progress on the other side of Dictionary Hill, in the Casa de Oro area.

In the second incident, two youths in a VW were being pursued by uniformed sheriff's deputies. As in the first case, a citizen aided in the capture.

It started when the two officers were staking out a car they knew to be stolen. When they approached the suspects sitting in the car in a commercial area of Casa de Oro, the youths fled. The officers also requested helicopter aid but the driver stopped when shots were fired and his passenger fled on foot.

Up a Tree

He was apprehended in a palm tree and a citizen used a flashlight to keep the other youngster in the stolen vehicle until the treed suspect was taken into custody. Ages were 15 and 17.

All of the youngsters and officers met in the sheriff's Lemon Grove office. 16 of the first pair and 17 of the second proved to be old acquaintances. Police records identified them with at least four car thefts — VW's all. The four teenagers were transported to Juvenile Hall.

Officers were of the opinion that they had broken the back of a ring that stole cars, stripped them and sold the parts—leaving almost worthless carcasses in their wake.

Woman's Wallet, $290 Missing

A San Diego woman, Georgiana Marie Kaska on November 15 visited friends on Glencoe place in Lemon Grove for a friendly card game.

During the afternoon, she placed her wallet on the ledge of a sliding window. A plant was between Kaska and the window so she didn't see the window being opened but she eventually discovered her wallet gone. Later, the hostess located the wallet on the front lawn. Kaska discovered the contents of her wallet — $290 — were missing. There is no clue concerning the thief.

Palestine Talk Cancelled

A lecture by Dr. Fayez Sayeg, founder of the Palestine Research Center and member of the Palestine National Council in the U. N., who was scheduled to speak at Southwestern College November 29, has been cancelled.

"Due to a change in Dr. Sayeg's schedule, he will be unable to appear on that date," said Johanna Paladino, assistant dean of Student Activities/Community Services.

"A Spring Artist/Lecture Series is being planned," said Dean Paladino, "and following the Holiday Season, a list of lecturers and entertainers who will appear on the Southwestern College campus will be released."

LODGE MASTER — James F. Graybeal of 8415 Golden ave., Lemon Grove, will be installed as the Master of the El Cajon Valley Masonic Lodge next month. The public is invited to attend ceremonies which are held at 8 p.m. December 11 at 695 Ballantyne st., El Cajon.

IRS Expands Telephone Info Lines

The Internal Revenue Service has provided additional telephone lines reserved exclusively for requesting federal tax forms and publications.

Although there will not be a great demand for tax forms until the 1976 tax packages arrive in the mail in January, the IRS announced the new service now because the forms-ordering telephone numbers are not yet in all Southern California telephone directories.

The new service was instituted to free the IRS telephone lines which are used to answer Southern Californians' federal tax questions. The numbers to call for answers to those questions are listed in the white pages of all local telephone directories under "U. S. Government, Internal Revenue Service, Federal Tax Information."

IRS officials emphasized that the best way to order federal tax forms and publications is by the forms-order blank that comes with the tax packages each year. They also stressed that tax questions cannot be answered on the new forms-ordering telephone lines.

The new service is available 24 hours a day, including weekends.

During weekdays, from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., IRS employees are on hand to personally take the requests.

After 4:45 p.m. and on weekends, taxpayers' forms orders will be automatically recorded.

Callers will be asked to provide their name, address (including zip code) and the title, number and quantity of the form or forms desired.

Approximately two weeks are required for delivery.

November 15 asks for raises costing 13.1 per cent. The District negotiator has not responded to the new offer and reportedly will not until all other bargaining matters are settled.

The Board declined in its written response to say "no" to Mrs. Hardcastle's question about the possibility of a teachers' strike, but they did say such an act is illegal and that the new collective bargaining legislation mandates procedures designed to avert that alternative.

In the response the Board also outlined its rationale for hiring the services of a district negotiator at $4300 plus travel expenses, saying it was the best service available at that cost.

They compared the figure to other local district expenditures for negotiations—$27,798 in Cajon Valley, $25,000 estimated in La Mesa-Spring Valley, $450,000 estimate San Diego Unified.

Paid Board

In another matter, the Board declined to reopen the question of whether or not its members should be paid to serve.

Acting on new state law, the board granted itself $20 a member per meeting up to $120 a month in August 1974.

Chuck Pennell, recent unsuccessful school board candidate, suggested board members serve without pay, since each member presently seated began duties with the knowledge they would not be paid.

"I guess you've got yourself a campaign issue," Buckner said in closing the discussion Tuesday.

Pennell has said he will run again in March.

Work or Play?

A burglar who couldn't decide whether he wanted to play or work apparently decided to do both when he entered the garage of the residence of Kenneth E. Gwin at 3119 Chateau way while Gwin was away.

He took a bowling bowl, a bag and a pair of bowling shoes. He also took a commercial paint sprayer. Gwin established his loss as $102 when he reported it to the sheriff's office on November 15.

SON OF RETIREE — In the movies "Good show begets good show." i.e. "Son of Tarzan." And so it was with the retirement of Byron M. Miller who had labored 25 years for the Helix Water District. He was general manager 1956-1975 and special consultant in 1975-1976.

On October 29 he was retired under a California State Resolution drafted by Senator Jack Schrade. A few days later Schrade was retired after he was soundly defeated in the November 2 elections by Democrat Bob Wilson.

In the above ceremony on November 17, HWD president Harry Griffen of Lemon Grove, in a reprise of the Schrade ceremony, retired Miller again under a HWD Resolution. The ceremony was at a luncheon noting Miller's involvement in HWD affairs from 1951 when 10,000 acre feet of water served 53,000 users. At his retirement the district delivered 34,000 acre feet of water to 183,000 users. He accepted a watch, exercycle and letters of commendation from other board members.

Miller was praised for his administrative and financial leadership and particularly for his loyalty to the HWD board of directors.

Wednesday is Deadline For Homeowners' Tax

"It's still not too late to file for a 1976 Homeowners' Property Tax Exemption," according to County Assessor E. C. Williams.

December 1, before 5 p.m. is the last time a claim can be filed for the current year. It is necessary, due to the short time left, for the applicant to come to the Assessor's office in the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway in San Diego, to complete and file the claim.

The rules for eligibility remain the same. To qualify for the Homeowners' Exemption you must have owned and occupied your home on March 1, 1976, and it must be your principal place of residence.

A review of your recently received property tax bill will show if the exemption was allowed on your property.

"We urge everyone who is entitled to this tax exemption to file and receive the savings they are entitled to by law," Williams added.

Contract Let for Operation of E.C. Recovery Plant

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors has approved a $1.5 million contract with Occidental Research Corp. to operate the experimental resource recovery demonstration plant in El Cajon.

The County had originally planned to operate the plant for the first year and evaluate the cost of the project.

"By contracting the project to Occidental the County is not left with additional employees should the project prove economically unfeasible," said Clarence Kaufman of the S.D. County Dept. of Sanitation and Flood Control.

Kaufman also cited the difficulty of hiring qualified personnel to operate the plant on a one-year experimental basis.

The plant, which is now in the testing stage, is presently scheduled to begin its demonstration year May 1. The recovery plant, near Gillespie, will take in trash from the El Cajon area and extract iron, aluminum and glass and make a low grade fuel oil out of the organic material.

It was built with funds provided by Occidental Research, the Federal Environmental Protection Agency and the County of San Diego.

Giant Andre Tops Mat Bill

He's 7'-5" and weighs 450 pounds.

He's a professional wrestler named Andre, the Giant.

He's from Grenoble, France.

Tuesday, on a card starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Coliseum, he'll don his oversize wrestling trunks as part of a tag team with an international flavor.

Opposing Andre will be Roddy Piper of Glasgow, Scotland.

On the giant's team will be Scorpion no. 1 of Mexico City.

The Hangman will be on Piper's team.

Four other bouts will complete the card.

Promoter Danny Millsap noted that admission prices usually increase when Andre is on the card because of his high purse demands. But no increase will be charged Tuesday. The same $4, $3 and $2.50 prices will prevail.

In Tuesday's scraps at the Coliseum Raul Mata won a cage match over Ken Mantell. Butcher Vachon and Chavo Guererro were defeated by The Hangman and Roddy Piper in a tag bout. Carlos Mata, Raul's brother, beat Rock Riddle and Dr. Hiro Ota beat Larry Zybysko.

E. C. Williams To Head Assessors' Association

E. C. Williams, assessor of San Diego County, was elected president of the Calif. Assessors' Assn. recently at the group's annual meeting.

C.A.A. membership includes all assessors from the 58 California counties and elected members and Division Chiefs of the State Board of Equalization.

The election of Williams is the first time a San Diego assessor has been elected to this post in 36 years.

The Assn. has been in operation since 1902.

Williams will supervise the overall operations of the State Assn. during the coming year, appoint committee chairmen in the areas of legislative review, standards, forms management, and other specialized committees to carry on the continued evaluation and improvements of assessment practices in the State, and will follow through with reports to the legislature.

Firm's Survey Serves as Guide To Status of Housing Industry

A title insurance company offers results of a recent survey of the housing industry as a reference to anyone considering the purchase of a home.

"More people have the itch," the firm says, "but do they have the 'scratch'?"

Their answer: Yes, because more people are buying homes today than ever before in history. (Let's not forget there are more people than ever before in history, too.)

Here are the survey findings:

The median price of homes changing hands was $37,700 in California, that figure is now at more than $50,000, according to the California Association of Realtors. That means that half the homes sold above that price and half sold below.

The median price for first time buyers was $31,200, according to the national survey, while repeat buyers paid $44,500.

The average age of the first home buyer is 28 years, while the repeat buyer averages 36 years of age.

Nine out of ten opt for single-family homes; 6 per cent buy condominiums; 5 per cent go into multiple-family units.

Down Payment

Two out of three owners put down 20 per cent or less toward purchase. And one out of four put down 10 per cent or less. Almost one out of ten closes the deal with only 5 per cent on the line. Looking at it from the other side of the coin, only 6 per cent choose or are able to come up with half the purchase price or more in cold cash.

The first-time buyer puts down an average 18 per cent of the selling price, while the typical repeat buyer peels off 30 per cent. This translates to an average down payment of $9,500 — which comes to $5,616 for the first-timers and $13,706 for previous home owners.

Of course it's easier to buy a home if you've already owned one. Almost half the people get their entire down payment on the new home from the sale of the old one. Yet fully 28 per cent of them get none of their down payment this way.

The first-time buyer comes up with 80 per cent of the down payment out of the family's own savings and investments. It takes them an average of two years and three months to scrape up this money — from planning savings, bonuses and gifts.

10 per cent of the down payment comes through relatives, and the remainder is split between loans from financial institutions, and other sources. Of course these ratios vary, and a healthy 71 per cent of first-home buyers get the entire down payment from their own savings and investments.

Monthly Payments

The average monthly payment is $303 or approximately one-fourth of the family income. Payment varies from $221 for the under $30,000 home to $424 for the over $50,000 abode.

Looking at it another way, the average head-of-the-household under 30 years of age shells out $285 the 15th of every month, while the over-35-year-olds pays $326.

Over half of all mortgages these days run 25 to 30 years. Only a small percentage are for as short as ten or fifteen years.

Lookers

More than half of all home lookers find their dream home — or what they will be satisfied with for the money they can afford — looking at five houses or less. In fact 27 per cent make their decision after touring through only one or two offerings.

The number of homes considered goes up as the asking price of the home rises. For homes priced under $30,000 people look at an average of six homes. But for over $50,000 homes people look at 3 times that many before signing on the dotted line.

A family actively looks an average of 4 months before deciding which house to buy.

The survey was a public service of the Family Housing Bureau of Chicago Title Insurance Company.

Variety to Open 'Tent' To Aid Ailing Youngsters

Monty Hall, teevee's famed m.c. of quiz shows, will be guest of honor at dinner at Hotel del Coronado Friday when San Diego becomes home of the newest "tent" of Variety Clubs International. A "tent" is a chapter.

Variety Club is a world-wide charitable organization comprised mostly of people in the entertainment world devoted to aiding needy and handicapped children.

Monty Hall is Variety Club's International president. His present show is "Let's Make a Deal". With Hall will be other celebrities of the entertainment world.

Reservations are open to the public and San Diego Variety's initial project will be Care Village for Handicapped Children in Pacific Beach.

Ticket donation to attend the dinner is $20. Patron tables of 10 are $500. Patron table guests will be invited to a champagne party with Hall and other show celebrities on hand.

Highlight of the evening is presentation of the San Diego Tent 57 charter — the first Variety Tent to be chartered in the U. S. in more than 7 years.

Variety Club International started 50 years ago when a Pittsburgh theatre owner, along with 10 other theatre men, adopted an abandoned child. Today, there are 12,000 members who have contributed more than $280 million to aid handicapped and misfortunate kids.

For reservations, Maxine Taylor 454-8277. For membership applications, Sol Gordon 283-7371.

Study Predicts 2.4 Million in SD in 20 Years

San Diego's Comprehensive Planning Organization has confirmed, using a computerized model and 1975 special Census data, that the region will grow to a predicted 2.4 million residents by 1995.

The computer study agrees with previous CPO staff forecasts.

The study also predicted that changes in life styles and family size have created a demand for housing which is expected to grow at a greater annual rate (2.5 per cent) than population (2 per cent).

The social changes will bring more people into the labor force than ever before, says CPO, and will produce an average 21,000 jobs annually.

For the period between 1975 and 2000 population in the San Diego region is expected to grow by more than a million people.

A technical review committee, composed of staff members from both the City and County of San Diego, State Department of Finance, CALTRANS, SDG&E and the San Diego Chamber of Commerce worked closely with CPO staff in developing the technical assumptions and analysis of the forecast results.

Further studies will reveal growth patterns in the different communities within the region.

Year's Final VFW Teen Dance Friday

The regular Teen Dance will be at the L.G. VFW Friday and it will wind up the dance program for the year.

Plans for 1977 will be made on December 3 when the junior committee meets at 7:30 at the Hall, according to Dick Bales, dance chairman.

He urges all members of the committee to be in attendance in order that the schedule and music choices will represent the majority of dancers.

Rain, Slick Tires Double Trouble – CHP

As wet weather approaches, driving takes on a new dimension. Inclement weather creates different problems for the driver.

Captain C. M. Douglas of the area office of the California Highway Patrol says distance and speed are the two most critical factors when driving on wet roadways. It takes five time longer to stop on a wet roadway than on dry pavement.

Leave yourself extra room and anticipate having to stop. Think to yourself, "What if I had to stop now?" and run through your mind the actions you would take to avoid the theoretical hazard.

Automatically reduce your speed when it begins to rain. Speed is the major cause of wet weather accidents. Use extra caution when making turning movements. Make turns smooth and gradual. Don't accelerate until vehicle has straightened out.

Another important factor in wet weather is tires. If your tires are getting smooth, replace them before the rainy weather starts. Don't try to make it through. The cost of tires is zero in comparison to a life.

It appears the rainy season has started, so use extra care and common sense. Remember "Speed and Distance" and assist the CHP in making this winter a safe one.

'Superior Quality' Sale

The Alpine Area Art Assn. (AAAA) holds a Christmas arts & crafts show December 4 and 5 at Alpine Elementary School in Alpine.

Works of "superior quality" will be exhibited and sold between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. both days, according to a member.
